WELCOME TO FEAST '98 – Adelaide's second annual Lesbian and Gay Cultural Festival. Four weekends and three weeks of celebration, culture, community, performance, pride and partying.

We are very proud to bring you Feast '98.
We have a brilliant, rich and diverse program for you to taste, relish and devour.

There are new events including Stroke Pool
Party, QueerDoc weekend, classical music, Sleaze Dance Party and more. Much loved events – the Masquerade Ball, Picnic in the Park, The Concert and a feast of theatre, film, cabaret, visual arts, forums, special events, literary, community events, music and more.

We are proud of our many wonderful strategic partners, artists, sponsors, advisory committees, funding bodies,
volunteers and especially our lesbian, gay and queer community who continue to inspire and support us, to provide stunning events and generously give their love and labour to bring you a second Feast.

Be proud, we are.

Premier of South Australia
Hon. John Olsen
FNIA MP

South Australia is a proud supporter of the arts and cultural events and our International reputation as the Festival State of Australia is testimony to the success of the State's many community-based festivals.

Adelaide is a city which values its diverse lifestyle, respects people's choices and is tolerant of people's differences.

We take pride in our parklands, the arts, our gourmet food and wine and our attractive environment and hope all visitors to South Australia have the opportunity to appreciate what South Australians are lucky to enjoy every day of the year.

I congratulate the organisers of FEAST '98 for creating such an extensive three week program of theatre, literature, cabaret, film and arts events and I wish all participants a successful festival.

Leader of the Opposition
Mike Rann MP

Since the late 1960's, South Australia has had a reputation for its commitment to the arts, its tolerance and our celebration of diversity. At a time when cruel intolerance and prejudice is becoming increasingly politically fashionable in some parts of Australia it is important to remember and recognise the benefits of being a truly broad-minded, multi-cultural society. FEAST is already on our cultural maps and this year will focus on Adelaide's West End with strong support from many local businesses. Adelaide rightly prides itself on its many cultural attractions and FEAST will feature events ranging from theatre and the visual arts to sport and special events. With our superb wineries and eateries, FEAST is an aptly named festival.

I know once again it will be a great success and will be enjoyed by all.

Kate Brennan
Chief Executive Officer of the Adelaide Festival
Centre

The Adelaide Festival Centre is delighted to be playing a part in FEAST - a welcome new partner which is helping to bring fresh cultural experiences to the Festival State. Gay and lesbian artists have always played a key role in all areas of the arts. This festival gives us the opportunity to acknowledge their unique insights and to celebrate their tremendous contribution to the cultural landscape of Australia and the world.

The Festival Centre aims to engage with a broad spectrum of artists and audiences, bringing in the best from around Australia and overseas while assisting with the development of the arts in this state. Working with FEAST on fulfilling these aims is our pleasure. Bon Appetit!

Kevin Lyons
State Manager SA,
Ansett Australia
Ansett Australia is a proud sponsor of the Arts in South Australia and our support for the FEAST Festival is an indication of our broad community support. In only its second year Feast has grown significantly in terms of interstate visitation and I trust this year's Festival will be memorable and will encourage further visits to South Australia's wonderful attractions.

We once again wish the organisers a very successful FEAST Festival.

Gary Kirwan
Sales Manager, SA Carlton and United Breweries

Carlton and United, Australia's Leading Brewer gratefully acknowledges the support from FEAST, in our inaugural year as an official Sponsor of Adelaide's own Lesbian and Gay Cultural Festival.

As a long time supporter of Arts and Cultural events in South Australia, Carlton and United proudly aligns itself with FEAST '98, in what is to become a premier attraction on the National and International stage.

Congratulations to those who tirelessly work to ensure the 1998 Festival successfully promotes Adelaide, and South Australia. From Australia's own Brewer, we encourage you to celebrate FEAST '98, with Australia's finest beers!

Simone Semmens,
Director of Community Relations
Telstra

Telstra is pleased to have been selected as the preferred supplier of Telecommunications to Adelaide's Lesbian and Gay Cultural Festival, FEAST. As part of this business relationship, Telstra will be working with FEAST to identify the communications needs of this growing organisation. Telstra wishes FEAST every success for the 1998 Festival.

Ray Mackereth
Publisher,
Adelaide GT Newspaper

On behalf of the team of people who create Adelaide GT, we are delighted to be associated with FEAST once again, South Australia's own lesbian and gay cultural festival.

The success of last year's FEAST was astronomical and evolved from the dreams and aspirations of a few, into the birth of a major event to be reckoned with.

Many people who supported and attended FEAST last year have been eagerly awaiting its return and GT is proud to offer its support again.

We encourage all people to join us in the 4 weekends and 3 weeks of celebration, culture, community, performance, pride, partying and to claim a piece of the FEAST.

Masquerade Ball

Proudly supported by
Ansett Australia

Frock up for this uniquely Adelaidean event. You haven't lived till you've danced the night away to the Adelaide Big Band, famous 20 piece live band playing jazz, swing, Glen Miller and more at the divinely 30's style Wonderland Ballroom. Plus dancing demos, progressive dances you can pick up on the night, surprise guest acts, sumptuous supper, drinks and prizes for the best costume and mask. One of the highlights of FEAST '97, this year's Ball will reach new heights of glamour.

Dress up in whatever fantasy you please for this legendary night to remember. Make up a table with friends. Masks are not compulsory - being at the Ball is!

Don't turn into a pumpkin after the Ball! The night is young so keep on partying. Sybil Graham and No Fly Zone will keep you entertained at the Lion Bar from 1-4am. The perfect place to be seen, be famous, be amused or just be. Catch the shuttle from the Wonderland Ballroom to the Lion Bar for only $2! (thanks TransAdelaide) and get in free with your Ball ticket or $5 at the door.

Deborah Cheetham in White Baptist ABBA Fan

Long before she became a gay Koori opera singer, Deborah Cheetham was a white Baptist ABBA fan. Born to an Aboriginal mother, she was taken away at three weeks and raised by a family of white, middle class Baptists.

Wry, hilarious and deeply moving, White Baptist ABBA Fan follows Cheetham's remarkable journey of self discovery through the pain of living between two worlds. Accompanied by the Short Black Quartet, soprano Deborah Cheetham's soaring arias are the songlines of her anguish and joy. White Baptist ABBA premiered to great acclaim at the 1997 Festival of the Dreaming.

Homme Fatale: The Joey Stefano Story The rise and fall of a top bottom...

Joey Stefano was a gay icon, a revolutionary porn star and possessor of what has been acclaimed as the best butt in the business.

But Joey was really Nick Iacona Jnr, white trash boy from Chester, Pennsylvania, who was willing to do anything to get out.

"an amazing triumph, a performance of breathtaking beauty and conviction." Sydney Star Observer

CAN WE COUNT ON YOU?

The AIDS Council of South Australia is pleased to be associated with Feast 1998

ACSA will continue to provide support services, information and education for people at risk of infection and those living with HIV.

But ACSA will need to rely on its members and volunteers to do this.

Every member we recruit strengthens our case to the government that we carry the support of people who are concerned about HIV and its effects.

And the stronger our case, the stronger our position in negotiating a better deal for people living with HIV and at risk of infection.

ACSA needs your support in recruiting new members and supporting initiatives. You can make an invaluable contribution in the fight against HIV.

You can make a difference... if we can count on you.

Indecent Exposure: A life of Robert Mapplethorpe. A play reading.

Photographer Robert Mapplethorpe was one of the most notorious figures in the 1980's New York art world. Some of his works were praised for their startlingly beautiful compositions, others condemned for their explicit sexuality.

In 1989, three months after his death from AIDS at 42, an exhibition of his work was cancelled igniting a fierce battle over "objectionable" art. In 1990 for the first time in the U.S. a gallery exhibiting his work faced prosecution for the art it displayed. Indecent Exposure is the story of a young man on the cutting edge of sexuality whose own life and loves are reflected in the confronting images that now hang in major international galleries.

The second in Barry Lowe's series of plays on 20th century sex rebels/radicals following the Joey Stefano Story - Not for the squeamish.

Performed by David Adams and directed by Steven Mayhew, Indecent Exposure is followed by a discussion with Barry, David and Steven.

Queer Fruit a play reading

In the tradition of the sell out FEAST '97 reading of Dyke is not a Dam, Vitalstatistix present a reading of prolific lesbian playwright Sara Hardy's Queer Fruit.

A bent performance piece about lesbian love, sex and history from three unusual points of view in time and experience laced together vocally and physically by a fruity chorus.

Willa, the youngest, in the 21st century, has an outrageously sexy, fruity encounter. Eddy, the oldest, talks of the love of her life and a certain experience with buttoned up nighties during World War II. Margaret, 40, tells of the love life that got her transported to Australia as a convict and how a poached egg was the ruin of her. Director: Catherine Fitzgerald
Writer: Sara Hardy
with a star-studded cast.

Drapes - a play reading

The first public reading of a new play by Adelaide playwright Stephen House.

Drapes . Boy. Man. Woman. Love. "It's never easy in the family game". Stephen's previous works include Shadows of a Silent Dancer, Go By Night. A brilliant cast of some of Adelaide's finest actors will read - Bridget Walters, Chrissie Page, Anna Linarello, Stephen Sheehan and Geoff Revell. Be part of this intimate, behind the scenes theatrical event. Chat to actors and the writer over drinks and nibbles.

Writer: Stephen House
Presented by The Edinburgh Castle Hotel and Gay Men's Health.

Go Fish

Sex. Share Houses. Dinner Parties and Dreams. Tea. Toenail Clippings and True Love ... get ready Adelaide for Zip Antics and GAL Productions dynamic stage premiere of the hit movie Go Fish. Featuring fine local musicians and an all female cast, Go Fish is a humorous, lyrical, raw and realistic slice of life in a lesbian community, "just don't let yourself forget, the girl is out there". Recent work by Zip Antics and GAL includes a "beautifully crafted" (Tim Lloyd, Advertiser) piece for Gorge and the superlatively directed sell out show Two Lips In Different Red. ## Spool Time

Alana Valentine's Spool Time commissioned by Vitalstatistix in 1996, is about a woman struggling against her own conservatism.

Alana's witty, sharp humour and astute political insight combine with the transformational genius of Rosalba Clemente and the comedy of Catherine Fitzgerald to make this a must see production. Well known Adelaide artists Andrea rieniets and Andrea O'Shea join a dynamic artistic team to bring you one of Australia's most innovative multi media theatre productions - Spool Time.

Alana is an award winning writer for stage, radio and film, recent plays include The Conjurers (Playbox), Swimming the Globe (Commonwealth Games Cultural Festival Kuala Lumpur 1998) and Ozone (premiered 1998 Brisbane Festival).

Spool Time is not to be missed!

William Yang selected photo slide show/ talk on censorship.

William Yang is an award winning photographer and a gay, third generation Chinese Australian. "There are two sorts of censorship, one that comes from society and the other coming from the artist. It could be argued they are one and the same. I've always shown gay images and there's always been a resistance to them. There is always within me some kind of conflict about what to show. I have many images which I wouldn't exhibit because they would be hurtful to certain people, there are others which would freak certain people out because of their sexual content. But I always push the boundaries when it comes to presenting gay images because I believe as a subculture we have been invisible for too long. I see my collection of photos as a version of history." William Yang.

Selected Slide Show/ Talk William Yang Gay in a Straight World.

William Yang is one of Australia's greatest photographers. The Friends of the Art Gallery are thrilled to present this event. "I'm an Australian born gay Chinese. The first works I did as a playwright were about the straight world. When I came out as a gay man, I found my work becoming more gay themed. My audience base is much smaller, but my work is truer to me. Now I have "come out" as a Chinese and I accept my marginalised position. There are more specialised outlets for my work now. My performance pieces which are mixed in theme, have had surprising success. I have found it better to do works which are true to me and then find an audience rather than start from the premise - this is what the market wants." William Yang.

Why have Good Sexual Health when you can have Better Sexual Health

We know that being gay, lesbian, bisexual or transgender is not always easy. But, thinking about issues like safer sex, HIV/AIDS, and accessing GLBT friendly services and service providers can be easy.

Better sexual health means feeling good about yourself • being able to get accurate information • being accepted for who you are • being treated with respect and dignity • having your needs met by health care providers • making decisions that are good for you • knowing about the things that may put you and your health at risk • having heterosexual people acting as your allies and advocates in order to prevent discrimination • having choices if, how, and when, to have children • experiencing safe satisfying relationships throughout your life.

At SHine SA* we understand that safer sex is much more than just putting on a condom or using a dam. It starts with being proud, celebrating your sexuality and living in a community that celebrates with you. SHine SA* is working with the GLBT community to provide services and resources for better sexual health. You can contact us:

William Yang Intimacies and Other Gay Images

"My full collection of gay images is titled Friends of Dorothy. I have pulled out several of the sections into smaller exhibitions. Intimacies concerns my erotic photographs of men. The first photo in this series I took in the late sixties and I have continued to this day. In the last ten years I started to write on the photos turning them into stories or poems. The best photos occur when I have a relationship with the subject, whereas the ones I take with models seem to be less successful. I have supplemented these images with scenes of gay and lesbian life in Sydney over the past twenty five years."
William Yang.

Jacqui Stockdale Harem

Following her triumphant solo show Alive on the Inside for the Sydney Mardi Gras 1998, Jacqui Stockdale brings to Adelaide her very own Harem. You will enter a world where the real is unreal and the beautiful is marvelous. Bunny masks, wigs, tits and art. Scratched, drawn and painted. Burlesque peep boxes, images pinned as butterfly wings, still life still living and untraditional female nudes.
"Stockdale's idiosyncratic blend of scholarship, exuberant feminism and technical virtuosity results in a celebratory body of work which informs, enthralls and inspires."
Clare Rice.

2 Too Two Spirit People Indigenous Gay Art

David Pearce - AIDS series/ sculptures.

"These works were created because of my personal connection with the AIDS epidemic. I lost a brother to AIDS 4 ½ years ago and another brother is positive. The sculptures are influenced by my ceramics lecturer Sylvia Stanfield from Chile."

Ian Willding - Paintings, drawings, collage and frottage.

"My art over the last few years has dealt with my position in society as a gay artist and my mixed blood. This coupled with my interest in religion, the universe and the new millenium. Question everything is my motto!"

Chris Mulhearn Wall Sculptures by Chris Mulhearn.

Sophisticated reasoning and intellectualizing of Art takes away from the rush you feel experiencing it personally. It isn't about outlining a collective conscience nor is it a mathematical equation. It is about truth, adaption and constant reinvention. Clear your mind and allow space for new thoughts to enter. I find a haven in a world where the ridiculous is ordinary and the ordinary is ridiculous. Where diversity thrives and sameness is recalcitrant.

I hope that I have success at astonishing others as I do myself.

You Can Brush My Hair

a Susan Bruce exhibition

These paintings were first created by scanning my favourite materials - my red woollen jumper, red leather gloves, blonde wig, fake fur etc and by manipulating textures and colours. These digital textures then became my palette / raw materials with which I designed this series of paintings. This exhibition is supported by Greenways Apartments.

Images of Urination in Twentieth Century Art A Slide Lecture by Christopher Chapman.

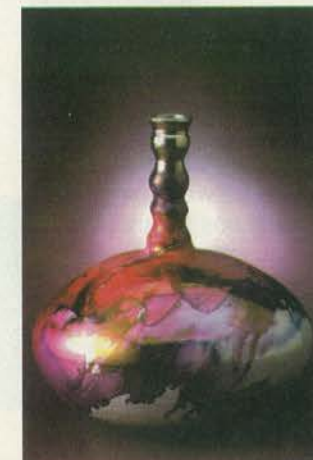

Thinking about the coding of male identity in abstract art led me to look at Andy Warhol's Oxidation paintings. These were made by the artist and his friends urinating onto canvas prepared with copper oxide. When I began to look for more images that represented urination as a sign of maleness, I found many. This presentation is a basic iconographic study. It looks at images of urination in art as a sign of abjection, liberation, political resistance, eroticism, fraternity, metaphor and gender difference. A wide variety of well known artists are discussed. Note: some images are of an explicit nature. Chris Chapman is a curator, writer and artist.

The Investigator

Chris Oxley UK 1997 video

It is not surprising that this film was made without the support of the British military. Based on a true story The Investigator is a dramatic portrayal of the official persecution and expulsion of lesbians from the British Army in the 1980's. Caroline Meagher is recruited into the Special Investigations Branch to investigate women soldiers with 'lesbian tendencies'. She is torn between her profession and her attraction to other women. When under suspicion herself she faces a decision which will define her future...

A fine Channel 4 drama with an exceptional performance by Helen Blaxendale.

Wed 28 Oct, 8pm

The Hanging Garden

Thom Fitzgerald, Canada 1997 35mm
Winner best Canadian feature and most popular film 1997 Toronto International Film Festival, Best Feature 98 Canadian Film and TV Awards.

The return home after a ten year absence of the gay wayward son to attend his sister's wedding in remote Nova Scotia introduces us to a family in turmoil, who's relationships with each other are as complex as the garden from the film's title.

A rich multilayered often surreal film that speaks of identity, self acceptance and dysfunctional families in a way that few new films, gay or straight do.

"luscious floral colours, nutty dialogue and recurring ghostly visions draw the viewer into a world where a hug and sorry will never be enough" Toronto Spectator.

A preview screening in association with Palace Cinemas.

Tues 3 Nov, 8pm

Bent

Sean Matthias UK 1997 35mm

Critics Week 1997 Cannes Film Festival and 1997 London International Film Festival.

A powerful and moving love story. Max and Rudi are exposed as homosexuals in Nazi Germany, they are sent to a detention camp. On the train to Dachau, in an act of desperate survival, Max turns his back on Rudi denying his homosexuality. He chooses to wear the yellow star branding him a Jewish prisoner rather than the pink triangle of homosexuality. Amidst the brutality of concentration camp existence, friendship and love blossoms. Adapted from his stage play, Martin Sherman has created a remarkable and often beautiful cinematic event. A star studded cast includes Lothaire Bluteau, Clive Owen, Ian McKellen, Mick Jagger, Rupert Graves and Jude Law.

"a devastating film of power, passion and cinematic brilliance." New York Observer

Wed 4 Oct, 8pm

Everything Relative

Sharon Pollack USA 1996 35mm
110mins

A lesbian "Big Chill" for the 90's. A group of lesbian school friends from the 1970's reunite when Katie (Jewish) and Victoria (W.A.S.P.) have a baby. Marie who is Mexican, Josie a Yiddish speaking Southerner, Luce and her new baby dyke girlfriend, Gina former hooker turned Hollywood singer and Sarah a happily married straight woman, go to an idyllic country house for the weekend. The warmth and humour they once shared returns but old tensions still exist. As the weekend progresses, lives and loves are re-arranged.

Tues Nov 10, 8pm

Leather Jacket Love Story

David de Cocteau USA 1997 16mm

Muscle men, twink, campy drag queens, denim daddies and leather men all get down to wild lip-synching acts and old style disco music - a perfect erotic romance for the gay 90's. Kyle, an aspiring poet graduates from high school and is bored with his shallow West Hollywood friends and trendy lifestyle. Eighteen years old and looking for adventure, hanging out in a local coffee shop where he meets some of the local divas who insist that if he wants to be a poet he must fall in love. Enter leather clad thirty year old Mike who sweeps Kyle off his feet and into bed. Unsure of why they are attracted to each other, Kyle and Mike discover they have more in common than just hot sex.

A hit at 1997 Turin, New York, San Francisco and LA Film Festivals and Mardi Gras 1998.

Wed Nov 11, 8pm

Out of Season

Jeanette Buck USA 1998 35mm

Leather jacketed Micki Silva swaggers into sleepy Cape May, New Jersey. Full of urban attitude she has reluctantly arrived to take care of her ailing Uncle Charlie. Let's face it, commitment and Micki don't mix. When she meets the very self-sufficient Roberta at the local diner, Micki's hooked. The chase is on and the sexual tension is running high. The audience at the recent work in progress screening in Washington erupted into a standing ovation at the conclusion of the film. Out of Season is a wonderfully warm, sexy and affirmative film. Go girls.

Sat Nov 14, 8pm

It's In The Water

Kelli Herd USA 1997 35mm

It's In The Water is a very rare animal - a feel good movie for and about both lesbians and gay men. In Azalea Springs the hair is big and so are the conservative family values. A rumour spreads that there is something in the water that turns people gay and all hell breaks loose. The gorgeous and hip Alex Stratton, from one of the town's better families, meets up with her old college chum Grace at the newly opened AIDS hospice where Alex has begun work as a volunteer. Grace confesses her divorce occurred because she discovered ... yes, you guessed it. Meanwhile blond, blue-eyed Mark Anderson is battling with his "tendencies" at a Homo-No-Mo meeting run by the church to keep "reformed" gay men straight. There he meets Tomas, a hunky Latino house painter who thinks he's at an AA meeting. Screened at just about every gay and lesbian film festival in the world.

Fa'afafines in Paradise

Heather Croall Australia 1998 video 60mins
World premiere screening of this SA documentary. An intimate portrait of the personal, sexual and social spirit of the Fa'afafines culture of Western Samoa. Fa'afafines are boys who live as girls, moving easily from the role of housewife to drag queen. Come on a bus trip to traditional villages and the annual Fa'afafines beauty contest in the city. This documentary peels back the layers of contradiction that exist within Fa'afafines history and culture and their role in Samoan culture.

Discussion: Filmmaker Heather Croall and line producer Alison Elder discuss the process of Western documentary filmmakers filming Fa'afafines culture. Discussion and opening night champagne included in ticket price!

Saturday Focus:
Sexuality and Ethnicity

Sat Oct 31, 10.30am

Murder and Murder

Yvonne Rainer USA 1996 16mm, 113mins.
Although strictly a feature this skillfully crafted and thought provoking film has been chosen for its unusual combination of feature and documentary techniques. Yvonne Rainer weaves a provocative tale of mature women who find themselves in love and move in together. Mildred, a mid 50's professor, a lesbian for most of her adult life. Doris an early 60's bohemian artist, new to the pleasures of lesbian romance.

A parallel narrative unfolds via the presence of the director. Rainer, the queen of filmic deconstruction, inquiring into the politics of breast cancer revealing her own mastectomised chest. The film is personal, reflective and approaches the subject of breast cancer, class and female aging from many directions.

Sat Oct 31, 1pm

China Dolls

Tony Ayres Australia 1997 video, 30 mins.

Director Tony Ayres explores race and sexuality taking us into the world of "rice queens", "potato queens", "bananas" and "sticky rice". Growing up as a gay Asian-Australian in a predominantly middle class Caucasian community presented many hurdles to Ayres, particularly in relation to self-acceptance and identity. In the homosexual world, the young and the beautiful possess the greatest social power, however desirability is also affected by race. The doco probes the uncomfortable reality of racial stereotyping and discrimination in the gay world through frank and humorous interviews with those in the "double minority".

Discussion: Tony Ayres will lead a discussion on race and sexuality and his portrayal of both on screen.

Sat Oct 31, 3pm

The Brandon Teena Story

S. Muska, G. Olafsdottir USA 1997 video 90mins
Best documentary Berlin Film Festival '98.

A riveting documentary about homophobia and the distrust of difference. Brandon Teena arrived in rural Nebraska, in 1993. His handsome good looks won him friends and a girlfriend. Three weeks later Brandon was raped by two of his friends who became enraged when they discovered that he was a woman. A week later these same men murdered Brandon. The video illustrates how deeply society maintains a belief system that does not include those that wish to question gender and sexuality and asks what is more important to a person's sexual identity - what's between your legs or what's between your ears?

Sat Oct 31, 5pm

Pride Divide

Paris Poirer USA 1997 video 57mins

Pride Divide is a provocative and outrageous docu-mentary that lets loose on the classic "battle of the sexes". Frankly reveals the hidden gender gap in gay and lesbian life since the 1940's, and how both have been yoked together for the good of the movement yet have also been chaffing at this mutual bondage with much the same recurring struggles between male and female as in society as a whole. Discussion: A panel of Adelaide lesbians, gays and queers discuss the "battle of the sexes", guaranteed to engage both filmmakers and audiences.

It's Our ABC Too

Researched and presented by Keith Howes, Australia 1998 video selections 90mins For the 20th anniversary of the Sydney Gay and Lesbian Mardi Gras, Queer Screen commissioned Keith to cast an eye over the contribution of ABC TV to gay and lesbian visibility and equality. A mixture of video, slides, anecdotes and critical overview, a sellout at Mardi Gras and Melbourne's Queer Film Festival.

For Adelaide, new footage will be included alongside the core material ranging from Adventure Island to Club Buggery, from GP to Frontline, Chequerboard to Four Corners, not forgetting Molly Meldrum and a bunch of lesbian and gay icons. This unique delve into the ABC's archives, takes a critical and affectionate look at the way we were and how a small but hugely significant part of the Australian population has gone from being outlaws to in-laws. A night to remember. How gays and lesbians were seen and not heard, heard but not seen across 40 years. Book early (Sydney sold out 700 seats, we only have 180!).

Sunday Focus: Our History

Sun Nov 1, 11am

Mary's Place

Melissa Lee Australia 1997 video 50mins

This insightful and heroic film follows Mary's journey from victim to outspoken survivor after a brutal rape and bashing in Floods Lane, Surry Hills in 1996. It is also the story of the extraordinary response of Sydney's lesbian and gay community and the reclaiming of the laneway and its rechristening. Mary's Place is about the power of each individual to have an impact on reducing violence in our community and on our streets. The film also features interviews with Ian Roberts, Helen Razer, Mikey Robbins and Julie McCrossin.

Sun Nov 1, 1pm

Stolen Moments

Margaret Westcott Canada 1997 35mm 92mins 1997 LA Outfest, San Francisco Gay and Lesbian

Film Festival.

A truly epic lesbian documentary. Acclaimed director Westcott weaves the lost threads of many stories from Sappho's poems to eighteenth century Amsterdam, Paris in the 20's to North America in the late 50's. Appearances by Nicole Brossard, Audre Lorde, Judy Grahn, Leslie Fienberg and many more. A tribute to the past and to the future of lesbians in society.

Sun Nov 1, 3.30pm

Riot for Our Rights

Robyn Kennedy Australia 1998 video 27mins

A documentary about the first Sydney Gay and Lesbian Mardi Gras parade June 1978, in which 53 participants were violently arrested. The video explores the social and political context of the first Mardi Gras and the civil rights issues at stake at the time. It presents individual perspectives of 1978 and their historical significance. Riot for our Rights examines the role of political activism in achieving social change and the place of the first Mardi Gras in the history of the Australian gay and lesbian rights movement. Screened at the '98 British Short Film Festival, London. Discussion: The filmmaker will discuss the background to the making of the documentary.

Sunday 1 Nov, 5pm

Out of the Past

Jeff Dupre USA 16mm 64 mins

Winner Audience Award '98 Sundance Film Festival, this film explores the crucial link between the knowledge of history and knowledge of self.

It tells the story of Kelli Peterson, a teenager who established a gay and lesbian club at her high school which provokes a conservative backlash, forcing the group into the national spotlight. In tandem, the film examines five landmark lesbian and gay stories in American history. Dupre also integrates interviews with historians like Lillian Federman. A brilliant documentary.

Sun Nov 1, 7pm

Toxic Queen

Fiona Cunningham Reid Australia video 25mins

A personal biography / documentary of Sydney artist David McDiarmid. David reflects on his life as an artist and as a sick queen "who refuses to be bitter". Recounted in his own words and illustrated with his art and personal photographs, David allows us a glimpse of a vibrant, humorous and political artist.

Discussion: Our Sex on Screen. Absolutely Filthy or Absolutely Fabulous? Sex has never been more in our faces, but do we really have all the pink and lavender rumpy-pumpy we want on our cinema and TV screen? Keith Howes, author of Broadcasting It and Outspoken and a gay show business / media journalist for three decades in London, Hollywood and Sydney asks: 'Are we getting enough, or too much, queer sex on screen?'

Laughing at Ourselves

Just to prove that not all gay literature is serious and that we can see the silly side of gay life, we've invited three interstate writers of popular gay fiction: Bruno Bouchet (journalist for Capital Q and author of that wickedly satirical send up of gay Sydney-siders All Sorts) Graeme Aitken (author of the very funny Fifty Ways of Saying Fabulous and Vanity Fierce) and Phillip Scott (satirist, composer, cabaret star, author of the comic murder mysteries One Dead Diva and Gay Resort Murder Shock) to make merry in the Back Bar at the Ed.

Let this brio trio titillate you with readings, gossip and witty observations of gay life and lifestyles.

Challenging Labels

Ever felt that labels like lesbian, gay, bisexual or transgender just don't fit, are too broad, narrow or irrelevant? What about male and female....? A divinely diverse panel delves deeper: Michael McCulloch, a radical pro-feminist man who fucks with gender, Helen Vicqua who has deconstructed lesbian, mother and whore with her own unique style, Gabrielle Scott and Simon Lumsden who feel good about being queer and talk about why, Kylee Smith who feels her sexual orientation is best described by her career choice - artist, plus James Winter who thinks "labels are limiting and are placed there because of fear". Compered by Margie Fischer. Audience involvement welcome.

The Pink Files: Gay Men Speak Out

A Uranian Society forum prepared by Ian Purcell. In a series of interlocking monologues, the true stories of homosexual men who lived in Adelaide in the 1940's and 1950's will be told in their own words. Compiled from oral histories recorded by John Lee in the late 1970's, these extraordinary stories of ordinary men who daily faced the ignominy of society in the 'pillory column' of The Advertiser will move you to tears, laughter, anger and compassion. Names which identify individuals have been altered to respect anonymity. There will be time for questions and reminiscences from the audience.

School's Out

A discussion on issues confronting high school students who don't identify as heterosexual. Guest speakers include past and present high school students speaking about their experiences in the school system, Michelle Rogers, a teacher involved in setting up informal support groups in schools and Pamela Rajowski, a representative from the Department of Education. This forum is organised by Adelaide University Pride for FEAST '98.

Who are You Looking At?

How are we portrayed on TV, in print, on the radio and on the internet and how do we represent ourselves? A panel gives a variety of perspectives: Julia Erhart, lecturer in Screen Studies at Flinders, John McConchie, filmmaker and film studies lecturer, Emma Anderson, cultural worker, Keith Howes, interstate guest and author, chaired by David Murray, teacher of media and culture at Adelaide University.

2001 - A Dyke Controversy

Young lesbians talk frankly about the community and its future. Chair Monique Briggs, founding member of Zip Antics Theatre Company, arts worker and drummer with Just Cordial chats with Emma Anderson, local arts worker, FEAST Board member, dog owner and closet ballroom dancer, Sam Jacob, recent arrival from South London, respectable administrator by day, by night can be found wandering the aisles of Semaphore Foodtown in her Ugg boots, Gloria Porsiello, social work student, founder of Talking About Female Sexuality group at Parks Community Centre and singer in Shementempo and Heidi Angove, a self-confessed computer chick with her own website, whose ideal job is manager of an ISP although becoming a DJ is a possibility.

Thinking Pink in the Ivory Tower: Lesbian/Gay/Queer Studies in Australian Universities.

What a scandal! Did you know that Australian universities now offer courses on 'homosexuality' and that there are academics making careers out of studying and researching it? Where does study about sexuality, particularly homosexuality, fit into universities? What kind of courses are being taught? What kind of research is going on? Are universities supportive of sexuality studies? A panel whose work in Australian universities focuses on sexuality address these questions and others you might have: Barbara Baird, Genevieve Canty, Murray Couch, Vicki Crowley, Jennifer Leske and David Murray.

Adelaide DIY (Do It Yourself) Gay Community

How does gay life in Adelaide compare with Sydney? What's the good stuff to say about the gay community in Adelaide? How's Adelaide managing with HIV? Social researchers with an interest in gay community and health promotion say Adelaide has a "Do It Yourself" gay community. What are they getting at? Come and find out. Speakers Gary Dowsett, David McInnes and Murray Couch. In conjunction with the HIV and Related Programs Unit, Department of Human Services and ACSA.

Love Makes a Family

There are a growing number of people in our diverse community who are starting families and, of course, there are many gay, lesbian, bisexual and transgender people who had children before they came out. In this forum a group of parents - gay, lesbian, bisexual and transgender - share their own stories of parenthood, what it means to be raising a family, how it works for them, their joys and the issues they have to confront. The forum will be supported by a photographic exhibition of gay, lesbian, bisexual and transgender parents and their children which will be on display on the night and at other FEAST venues.

The Rise of Extreme Right Wing Politics and Us

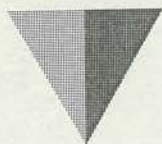

Pauline Hanson's One Nation Party is the public face that is bringing together an array of already existing extreme right wing groups and disenfranchised people. Many of us are concerned about the rise of racism, very conservative family values and the scape-goating of some groups as the cause of Australia's problems. If we are young, lesbian, gay, queer, Indigenous, Asian, Jewish, single parents, intellectuals - anything but straight, white Anglo Saxon - we are being targeted. A panel explores these issues: Rabbi Lenore Bohm of Adelaide's Progressive Jewish Congregation, Ian Purcell gay activist, Matthias Micka from Gay Men's Health and a number of other guest speakers.

Golf - The FEAST Tournament

A day of serious yet fun golf at the fabulous and challenging Hahndorf Golf Club in the picturesque Adelaide Hills.

This day is for reasonably competent golfers and would be golfers although it is not suitable for beginners or those who can't hit the ball with reasonable consistency. A handicap isn't necessary, competition will be generic and fair. There will be "serious" as well as fun events and prizes. Lunch and drinks will be organised.

When registering, we will need to know your golfing ability, handicap and club if applicable. BYO clubs and normal golf attire (it's a private club and dress rules do apply).

Ballroom Dancing Course

Make a difference to your 1998 Masquerade Ball experience! With the right moves and confidence you'll double your fun. Gay Men's Health at ACSA offers all lesbians and gay men the unique opportunity of a same-sex ballroom dancing course. For beginners and those wanting to polish up existing skills. Starting September 29th, it will be taught professionally once a week over four weeks at a city venue, focusing on steps and styles suited to the musical program of the Ball.

FEAST Ecumenical Service

This church service is open to all lesbian, gay, bisexual and transgendered people, their families and friends of all denominations or of no denomination but who view their spirituality and their sexuality as mutually inclusive.

The service is being organised by "Unity" the support group within the Uniting Church in South Australia.

Guest preacher is Rev. Jenny Byrnes, director of Lay Education for the Victorian Synod of the Uniting Church in Australia. Jenny's vision is that all people have a God-given place in the life, worship and leadership of the church, regardless of sexual orientation. She is working hard for this to happen, through her leadership position and as a member of Uniting network, the national body representing all State and Territory support groups within the Uniting Church.

THE PEDIGREE PAL AND ADELAIDE GT DOG SHOW 1998

The Pedigree Pal and Adelaide GT Dog Show will be staged during the annual Picnic in the Park.

Adelaide's pampered and campest mutts will once again take to the dogwalk to be judged by a panel of experts. Last year the extremely camp dog show was one of the highlights of Picnic in the Park and is fast becoming a major event in Adelaide. The Dog Show gives Adelaide's lesbians, gay men, bisexuals, transsexuals, transvestites and others the perfect opportunity to introduce their best friends to society. The event will be hosted by the fabulous Vonni and categories will include; Best Dog/Owner Lookalike, Best use of a Theme, Butcher Than Butch, Naughtiest

Dog, Campest Canine, Best Trick and Best Unusual Canine. There's plenty to choose from so give it some thought and prepare your entry for this year's canine riot! The 1998 Pedigree Pal and Adelaide GT Dog Show is scheduled to begin at 2.30pm.

If you are interested in entering your pooch then rock up to the Pedigree Pal Tent from 12.30pm onwards for your chance to win a fabulous Doggie Delight, but be quick because there are a limited number of entries per category.

Also check out the Pedigree Pal Bobsled Team and The Doggie Café located at The Pedigree Pal Tent.
