You told me you loved the hub, but wanted more!
So that's just what we did!

Welcome to another fabulous Feast! It's time for everyone to come together to celebrate our amazing festival!

In 2011, Light Square will once again become our place, where we will create a vibrant Festival Hub. The Ballroom and Lounge venues will host a torrent of world class cabaret and theatre performances, live music, films, literary events and even some outdoor cooking at The Camp Site, our fabulous new venue. The Camp Site is the place to enjoy improvised music nights, poetry readings or just sitting around the camp fire.

For the first time Feast will create an outdoor cinema, where you can enjoy free silent movies. We have created exhibition spaces for six high profile queer art shows as well as revamping the outdoor stage, so local DJ's and talented emerging musicians can play every night!

Light Square will host our huge Opening Night Party, Picnic After Party and Feast's brand new CommUNITY Weekend. The middle weekend of Feast will be jam packed with a commUNITY expo, garage sale, a wellbeing retreat, an afternoon tea feast, circus workshops, giant board games, zumba, salsa, belly dancing classes and so much more!

I encourage you to attend as many Feast events as possible and make the Hub the central meeting place for the LGBTIQ community and our friends in November. This is your festival, come out, support and enjoy it!

Thank you to the Feast staff and Board who have worked particularly hard this year, our wonderful volunteers and the hundreds of artists and community members who bring you Feast.

In 2011, I hope we all come together to enjoy a fabulous festival!

Creative Producer, Feast 2011

messages of support

Since it was established in 1997, the Feast Festival has grown in both scope and profile to become one of the highlights of our State's cultural calendar.

Through its myriad of events and the great success of the Festival Hub in Light Square, Feast proudly flies the flag for diversity and inclusiveness.

This year's Festival theme Coming Together reflects the strong sense of creativity and community that Feast engenders.

As a celebration of gay, lesbian, bisexual, transgender, intersex and queer life and lifestyle, the Feast Festival brings together artists and audiences from throughout Australia, through a carnival that recognises difference while also promoting acceptance.

I congratulate the terrific work of Feast's organisers, staff and the countless volunteers who are integral to the Festival's ongoing success, and I extend my best wishes to everyone taking part in this year's event.

Mike Rann

Mike Rann
 Premier Of South Australia
 Minister For The Arts

Welcome to the City of Adelaide for the 2011 Feast Festival.

The City of Adelaide is proud that Light Square will again serve as the event's Hub, so the heart of the Festival can be in the heart of the city.

Adelaide City Council is also pleased by how the Feast Festival encourages all sectors of the community to share in a range of artistic experiences, reflected in this year's theme, Coming Together.

I encourage everyone to support the 2011 Feast Festival and I wish the event every success.

Stephen Yarwood

Stephen Yarwood
 Lord Mayor

It is with great pleasure that I add my support to the 2011 Feast Festival program.

This year's theme, Coming Together, will infuse this vibrant 16 day festival with energy as a celebration of community and meaningful creative collaborations.

Deeply embedded in Feast is its dedication to sharing stories, art and music. Feast provides a platform for powerful and proud artistic expression of identity in a celebration of diversity. It is an important and much loved festival in South Australia's arts and cultural calendar.

The Festival Hub at Light Square continues to be an exciting initiative of Feast, and perfectly encapsulates the concept of Coming Together. The Hub draws people together in one place as a community where individuals and groups are encouraged to share their experiences and ideas through creativity. The Hub provides a fantastic opportunity for South Australian artists to perform in an exciting mix of interesting and innovative venues.

I wish to congratulate the Feast team and the many volunteers who have made the festival possible this year. I encourage you all to explore the program and get involved with this fantastic festival in all its richness.

Alexandra Reid
 Executive Director
 Arts SA

The South Australian Government is proud to support the Feast Festival, which has grown since its inception in 1997 into the biggest arts festival of its kind in Australia.

Last year's Festival attracted 45,000 participants, including a large contingent of interstate visitors, who enjoyed 16 days of theatre, cabaret, film, forums, literature, visual arts, radio, sporting and community events.

I encourage all visitors in Adelaide for the event to take the opportunity to sample the very best our city has to offer, and to explore South Australia's diverse regions including the Adelaide Hills, Barossa Valley, Fleurieu Peninsula, and the unspoilt beauty of Kangaroo Island.

Picnic in the Park

Picnic returns to Pinky Flat and with a host of new attractions, it's the recipe for a great day out.

Set up camp by the river or under shady trees, bring a picnic or take your pick of delicious on-site food, join in new novelty races, tug-of-war and water pistol duels. Wander the wide variety of community stalls, enter your pooch in the Feast Dog Show, take the kids on a Popeye ride, watch people go by while sipping a drink from the bar. Be serenaded by local legend Heather Frahn and international cabaret star Scott Free, Melbourne's JOY 94.9 live broadcast will get you dancing, DJ Lush will play Picnic out with all your favourite party anthems. 2011 Picnic takes queer community fun to extremes. Then get ready for some serious dancing action at the Picnic after Party, just down the road! Check out the map on page 30.

En Route to Modesty Lane

Think for a moment of the effect that storytelling has on our lives, the way we are moved by stories, the way our own stories move others. Have you ever felt fearful or silly when revealing tales plucked from your life, worried they'll be misunderstood or laughed at? Annie Siegmann considers how, by sharing their stories, people can simultaneously discover their overwhelming similarities and stark uniqueness.

After a sellout season at Tuxedo Cat for the 2011 Cabaret Fringe Festival Annie Siegmann is back with her show En Route to Modesty Lane.

Talking Poofy

The stars of the bafflingly popular podcast 'The Poofcast' return to the stage for a very limited season of inebriated insanity.

The Outrageous Scott Brennan (Comedy Inc), The Fabulous Adam Richard (SA.FM), The Punctual Toby Sullivan (likes bacon), together they are Talking Poofy. This shambolic show is gayer than the sum of its parts. A dangerously drunken panel of poofs talking dirty.

Dykeotomy

A comic-erotic-drama, Dykeotomy is a funny, touching and sexy game of gender dodgeball. Solo performance artist Kimberly Dark narrates a tale of modern gender confusion - from the perspective of the gender-normative female lover. Stories explore performative gender foibles of strap-on sex, topping and bottoming and more. Audiences will question their relationships to biology, culture and sex; and get turned on in the process!

Curve Magazine named Dykeotomy one of the top 10 LGBT theatre productions of 2009!

Holding The Man

At an all-boys Catholic school in Melbourne in the mid-seventies, Timothy Conigrave falls wildly and sweetly in love with the captain of the football team. So begins a relationship that lasts for 15 years, a love affair that weathers disapproval, separation and ultimately death. As refreshing and uplifting as it is moving, Holding The Man is a funny yet sad account of growing up gay.

Director: Rosalba Clemente, Designer: Morag Cook, Lighting Designer: Mark Shelton, Composer: Stuart Day. Cast includes: Luke Clayton, Nic English, Catherine Fitzgerald, Nick Pelonis, Geoff Revell, Ellen Steele.

William and Will are poets. Best of friends, each sets out to find how to live life, make art and find out how love fits in. When Will meets Kate, a street prostitute, and William leaves his lover Henry, their perceptions of love, art, and life are dramatically re-structured. Where are the lines between love and lust, art and obsession, life and disease?

The Dead Ones

Margie Fischer's solo show explores death, memory, family, the effects of the Holocaust and the power of objects through storytelling and photography.

After everyone in her family died Margie was left to clear out their house. She became fascinated with what is left when loved ones die and documented her feelings and the processes involved. The Dead Ones explores her family stories through the objects left behind.

Coming Together

In 2009 we presented 40 'homegrown' artworks for the first time. In 2010 we exhibited 40 artworks in 'our place'. In 2011 we will once again have 40 artworks coming together for the Annual Feast Emerging Artist Group Exhibition at the Hub to celebrate the creativity, passion and quality of Queer Adelaide's local artists.

A). Sean Miller - My art describes gender and sexual diversity. I am a Transman and I have used art to learn about myself and the world around me, but most importantly, where I fit in to the world around me.

B). Patrick A Manimaran - To experience abandonment by a loved one can be a sorrow that cuts deep. This series of paintings documents the journey of a man healing a wounded soul.

C). Tracey Hansell - Tracey's works capture a moment...a frame of time that would otherwise be forgotten. Her work varies from moody charcoal nudes, to eccentric motion filled photographs, eclectic combinations of sculptural pieces and more.

D). Michelle Lannil - As a contemporary abstract artist who works with watercolour, acrylic paint, charcoal and inks. I create work to heal others, make them feel calm, together and enlightened - a part of the community.

E). Thanh Vu - The colour pink, abstraction and the occasional glimpse of nudity.

F). Huntress - Turn your head, look at those people you give a sideways glance. Journey into the minds of many mental and physical health sufferers, they are all around you. See if you can spot them in the images.

G). Ania Szawczukiewicz - A photographic exhibition that has captured moments in time here and now, or, there and then from Australia and abroad.

H). Samuel Bovenlander - My latest body of work Butch Fairies celebrates masculine male beauty and explores its connection with men's sexuality and identity. My work is camp, full of humour and my passion for eccentricity.

I). Simon Simonson - I advertise my work as quality, affordable art. A rendering of trees, and the rhythms of nature in the local rural landscape. My commitment is to render the beauty, the darkness and the spirit of Nature.

Evolve Love

This installation by GSSpirit explores shared heart love through visual art, digital projection and sonic form. It incorporates free dance and geometric forms expressing the queer spirit of compassion and inner expression by coming together through the way of the heart. With our bodies fully illuminated from within we can learn to connect from the sexual to spiritual on new levels with each other.

Alian

Alian articulates a language of exclusion that has intergenerational significance for Aboriginal Australia. It is also a combination of the artists' names.

FAMILY MATTERS: A WIRADJURI STORY

Ian Willding pays homage to his mother and her nine siblings. This work represents nearly a decade of family history research where Ian has traced his Wiradjuri bloodlines, learning mainly from his mother before her passing.

MUSEUM OF UN-NATURAL HISTORY: BOW DOWN TO THE SOVEREIGN GODDESS

Ali Baker is a Mirning woman who works in film, photography, textile and performance. Her work provides an inter-textual construction of the EPIDERMILUMN (the object becomes human) that turns the gaze on the white nations' practices of colonialism and nationalism and re-centres Aboriginal sovereign positions.

RAW by Anja Halstead

Anja Halstead has been fascinated by what she terms 'the ever changing and undefinable world of art' since childhood. She feels constricted by a repressive society, notions of safety and an obsession within her culture of validating the opinions of individuals regardless of the malevolence of intent. Anja's artist voice is hungry to be heard, as a political and emotional commentator without wearing commonly misplaced labels. For more information phone the centre.

Spreading The Love: The Bed Tour

Spreading The Love: The Bed Tour invites you to jump in the travelling bed of love as it rolls through Adelaide's city and suburbs. Share your insights on love and be part of several short films documenting local people's thoughts and secrets on intimacy. Take a mystical love reading and attune to your love fortune: will you woo or shoo your love away? Climb into the love capsule and divulge your deepest darkest love secrets to the camera.

Loosen up this Feast, and go to bed while you're out. This is radical relaxation. It's outgoing intimacy. It's spreading the love.

IF YOU'RE PLANNING
A BRILLIANT HOLIDAY
THERE'S ONE PLACE
YOU MUST VISIT.

southaustralia.com

SA South Australia.
A brilliant blend.

On behalf of everyone at Feast, I'd like to thank you for coming together to make the festival an outstanding success.

During the last two weeks of November we once again make the Hub our place to celebrate queer culture and put the Light in Light Square. Feast brings a certain something to the West End - something that no other festival can.

Creating Feast takes an enormous amount of skill, energy, passion, resourcefulness, dedication and income generation. We find all of those qualities and many other talents in our dedicated and loyal supporters.

Feast acknowledges and thanks the contribution of our sponsors, funding partners, artists, supporters, committees, Feast 500 members, clubFEAST members, volunteers, friends, the media and the LGBTIQ community of South Australia and beyond.

It is the special mix of all our dedicated supporters coming together with vibrant and energetic festival goers that creates the magic of Feast.

Once again, thank you for everything you do throughout the year to make this festival happen.
